YMCA Selects 'Good Neighbor'

Mrs. Leonard Kane was named this week as Torrance's Good Neighbor of the Year.

The announcement of her selection came as a surprise as she, her husband and their children, Kenny, 12, Sharon, 10, Rickey, 8, and David, 5, were attending the YMCA's 16th annual breakfast Saturday.

The 39-year-old housewife was awarded the honor for "quiet deeds in her neighborhood and for youth work."

Letters

Dear Editor,

The remarks attributed to me in the Daily Breeze of Nov. 14, 1963 were completely incorrect and I made no such inference or comment to the Associated Press or to anyone relative to the union as regards our firm.

The present protest by our two discharged employees is a personal matter and in no way has any connection whatsoever with the union. These men were discharged for cause and in no way reflects any attitude toward the union.

The union requested a hearing through the National Labor Relations Board on Oct. 24, 1963 and withdrew this request for the hearing on that date. Another request was made for a hearing regarding one of the discharged employees and this request was also withdrawn by the union.

The Company has requested and received an injunction against the pickets to prevent them from interfering with customers and other pertinent restrictions relative to the natural flow of business.

Insofar as Al Ortale Rambler is concerned, our employee benefits, wages and working conditions are reputed to be the finest in the Southern California area and the striking individuals in no way reflect the attitude of the majority of this firm's employees.

The directors will be asked to submit names of architects by the building committee. Members who have visited other "Y" facilities will be requested to report on them to the group, Wilcox said.
